2. Reason for the Revision

As of April 7, 2020, 412 UNIQLO stores worldwide are temporarily closed due to the impact of the COVID-19 coronavirus. That total includes 244 stores in South Asia, Southeast Asia & Oceania, which includes Southeast Asian nations, Australia and India, 97 stores in Europe, 62 stores in North America, 5 stores in Mainland China, and 4 stores in Japan. Given our inability to rationally estimate when the COVID-19 virus will run its course in each individual market, it is difficult to accurately calculate business estimates at this point in time. These revised estimates have been calculated after taking into account actual business performance for the month of March and assuming that the adverse impact of COVID-19 will continue to cause a sharp decline in revenue in the months of April and May before operations gradually start to return to normal from June onwards. Please note that we may need to make further revisions to our business estimates depending on how and when the COVID-19 situation is brought under control around the world.
